JIM HUME MEMORIAL STUDENT ESSAY CONTEST

How can we make western Canada
an especially inspiring place to live?

The statement “A house does not make a home” applies to cities, provinces and regions too. While foundational elements must be in place for a society to prosper, those pieces in themselves are not enough to create quality of life. There must be cultural, spiritual and community richness in place to make a society truly a home to those that live there and a beacon to those that do not.

Open to students of post-secondary
institutions in Canada

Winners will be awarded
in two categories;
undergraduate & graduate

SUBMISSION
